YARDLEY—Moe Tener of Philadelphia and Ray Walowski of Trenton were honored at Rider College's annual basketball banquet, held at the Yardley Country Club here last night.

Court star for the past four years, Tener, won the Most Valuable Player award while Walowski was presented with the Most Improved Player trophy.

In presenting Tener's trophy, Tom Leyden, coach of the Rider team, said, "If I had a son, I'd like him to be like Moe." Leyden is the father of two daughters. The 21-year-old senior was a former All-City player with John Bartram High in Philadelphia. He has starred on Rider teams for the past four years.

Walowski, with his deadly set shooting, was the star of many Roughrider contests last season. Leyden compared the former Trenton Catholic student to Paul Arizin, Villanova standout, who the coach said was the best basketball player in the country in his opinion and Dick McGuire of the New York Knicks. Arizin, Leyden pointed out never played high school basketball and McGuire was only a reserve.

Dr. J. Goodner Gill, vice president of Rider, was toastmaster for the affair. During the course of the evening he introduced Commissioner George W. Rieker, a Rider graduate in 1916, Bill Doolan, Trenton High junior varsity baseball coach and timekeeper at the Rider games; Dean Robert McBane of Rider, Art Elwood, Yardley golf pro; Frank Otway, former Rider court star; Bob Brundage, team statistician; Professor Robert Kilgus, Rider tennis coach; Professor Carl Nawoj, baseball coach; Dick Gray, assistant basketball mentor; Kenneth Conover, placement director; Frank Donlon, director of athletics, Herb Clark, Charles Lewis, Fulton Arnold, Harvey Yavener, Robert Tedder and Bus Saidt.

Coach Leyden, who reminded the gathering several times he was golf champion last year at Yardley, presented varsity letters to John Bastian, John Postal, Dick Ednock, currently serving in the Navy, who managed to attend last night's affair, Herb Dillon, Joe Ludrof, Larry Hogland, manager, Jim Koschka, assistant manager and John Caggiano, trainer.
